

Why Craco? Why Now?

Craco Mfg., Inc. is pleased to announce their Code Compliance Certification with the SSMA and ATI. Today, July 1, 2009, is the launch date of this new program for structural framing products and Craco Mfg., Inc. is one of the few manufacturers in the US to be awarded this certification.

It is with great pride in manufacturing that we have received this certification and is our way of remaining committed to our principles of great customer service and quality for our loyal customers.

Look for the new Code Compliance label shown here on your structural framing products and confirm the products were manufactured at a code compliant facility.
