

LEED Credit Document – CUSTOMER REQUIREMENTS

Today it seems more and more projects require LEED Credit Document Letters. CRACO is always pleased to provide these letters however it's important to be aware of further customer requirements to assure LEED Qualified Steel Framing Products are delivered to the jobsite.

LEED Credit Document Letters, when required, are typically listed as a requirement of your customer's project specifications.

The submittal of the document letter assists the contractor to satisfy their projects submittal process.

For additional information, please see the NOTE below typically found on our standard Consumer LEED Document Letter posted on our website at <http://cracometals.com/support-center/>.

NOTE: To assure your project receives LEED qualifying steel framing products, CRACO customer must submit their prepared LEED Credit Document Letter to our sales staff when requesting a quote or placing the order for materials. If request for LEED material or LEED document letter is made after the material has been quoted, ordered, produced and/or delivered, there is no way for manufacturer to confirm the products will qualify for LEED Credits.
